Fake lawyer in marriage fraud

- Women lured with lavish lifestyle; mother-son duo absconding
- Bengaluru industrialist's daughter among targets; wedding called off

Mysuru, May 23 (VVH&BCT)- A mother and son from Sathagalli, accused of orchestrating a high-profile matrimonial fraud, are on the run after allegedly cheating several gullible women, including widows and daughters of wealthy families in Bengaluru and Mysuru, out of lakhs of rupees.

The prime accused, Pradeep Solomon, allegedly projected himself as a successful lawyer and created a fake profile on matrimonial websites under the name Dr. J. Pradeep Solomon, claiming to possess advanced degrees such as a doctorate and promising a future as a judge.

His mother, Kalavathi, is alleged to have colluded in the fraud, with the duo luring victims through promises of marriage, wealth and financial security.

The Adugodi Police in Bengaluru have launched a massive search operation over the past two days to trace the absconding duo and a special team has been formed to track them down.

Bungalow on rent

Pradeep had rented a lavish bungalow in DTS Rao Layout, Sathagalli 'B' Block and also opened a lawyer and notary office in the basement of a building near the Sathagalli KSRTC Depot on Ring Road.

His luxurious lifestyle and convincing manner reportedly made many believe he was genuinely wealthy and well-established.

Among the victims was a Muslim woman from Sathagalli, who handed over nearly Rs. 7 lakh after trusting him. When Pradeep reportedly failed to return the money, he allegedly began threatening her.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

THE BURDEN OF BORROWED EXPECTATIONS: Somewhere between childhood and adulthood, an unannounced transfer occurs. A parent's unspoken fear becomes our ambition, a family's definition of what counts as a life well lived becomes our standard. And the community's old shames settle into the nervous system as something that feels indistinguishable from personal guilt. We do not remember accepting any of this. But by the time we are old enough to notice, the weight already feels like part of us.

The weight was placed before the question of consent was even available to us and not all of it in the same way.

A mother's fear of scarcity gets transmuted into an urgency around money which the child internalises as her own personality.

Similarly, a father's equation of dignity with professional rank subtly shapes the child's aspirations and perceived shortcomings.

And then there is everything culture did without anyone in particular doing it: the long instruction, absorbed before it could be noticed as instruction, about what a woman's life is for or what a man is permitted to feel. None of it was chosen. It simply accumulated, the way things do when no one questions them.

Years pass and the absorbed becomes the assumed and what is assumed long enough, we defend. What entered us as someone else's anxiety we now call our values. What was handed to us without our knowledge we now guard as conscience, as responsibility, as the shape of a good life.

We feel guilty when we begin to question any of it, as though the questioning is the betrayal rather than the original imposition.

But where did it actually come from? The weight was someone else's unfinished business: their incompleteness, their fear of what might happen if things were done differently.

It was usually passed on not from cruelty, but from their limited understanding. We were not consulted, we were simply near.

The question is not what to do with the weight. That comes later, if it comes at all. What is worth sitting with first is simpler: have we ever actually looked at what we are carrying and asked, honestly, when and why we picked it up? Or have we only carried it and named the carrying our 'selves'?

1.36 kg stone removed from man's bladder!

Beijing: A farmer who endured excruciating pain and severe urination problems for several years was shocked to learn that he had a giant stone in his bladder.

Chen had mistook the symptoms for common prostate-related issues and refused to see a doctor. He didn't want to take time off from his work on the farm and believed he could keep the pain in check with medicine. Unfortunately, the symptoms worsened as time went by.

The farmer eventually gave in to the pleas of his family and visited a hospital. At the hospital, he was shocked to learn that he had a large bladder stone blocking the urine flow.

Chen's giant bladder stone measured 10 centimetres wide, 13 centimetres long and weighed 1.36 kilograms, roughly the size of two adult fists. The hospital put together an multidisciplinary team and came up with a custom surgical plan for the procedure. Luckily, it was a success and the 56-year-old farmer was finally rid of the nightmare that had been plaguing him for years.

Pet translator boasts 95% accuracy rate

Hangzhou: A startup recently announced an AI-powered pet translator that it claims can interpret the sounds of cats and dogs with an accuracy rate of nearly 95%.

While most commercial pet translator apps are largely created with entertainment in mind, Hangzhou-based tech startup Meng Xiaoyi claims that its new pet translator is the real deal! As long as the pet is wearing the device around its neck, the translator can allegedly recognize vocalisations, emotions and behavioural language with an accuracy rate approaching 95%. One of the red flags reported online was that the company's impressive claims were not supported by actual data.

VOICE OF THE READER

Garbage dumping & burning

Sir,

This is to bring to your attention the ongoing issue in Ward No. 27, Lashkar Mohalla, specifically opposite my residence and directly across from the Government Urdu Primary School, Mohammed Sait Block.

For the past several weeks, people have been dumping garbage in this area, turning it into an unhygienic spot. During the night, some individuals are also using the place for urination and, at times, as a shed for cows.

This has resulted in foul smell, mosquito breeding and allergy-related health issues for residents. Earlier, after the issue was highlighted through this column, the MCC had taken action and temporarily installed barricades at the spot.

However, the barricades were later removed, following which people once again began dumping garbage.

Moreover, over the last few days, garbage has been set on fire regularly, causing severe smoke pollution and inconvenience to nearby residents. The smoke is leading to breathing difficulties and suffocation, especially among elderly people and children living in the area.

I request the MCC Commissioner to take strict and permanent measures to prevent further dumping of garbage at this location. Installation of warning boards, permanent barricades, regular monitoring or other effective preventive steps may help ensure that the surroundings of the school remain clean, hygienic and safe for the public.

City artist's expo in Bhutan

Dr. Prashanth

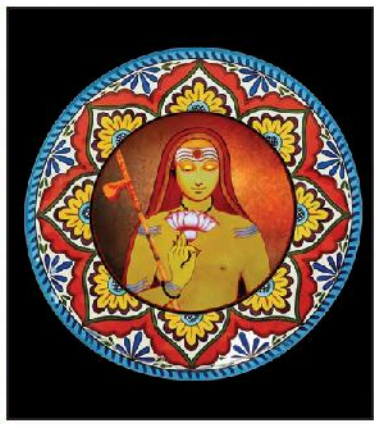
Mysuru, May 23- To conserve the heritage, Dr. Prashanth, an artist from Mysuru city, has organised an exhibition of artefacts to spread the pride of Mysore Kingdom, at The International Cultural Fest and Cultural Exchange-2026, scheduled to be held in Bhutan on May 28.

Unfortunately, city's heritage buildings, murals and rare art works have reached their dilapidated state due to negligence of those in the administration. The cultural heritage that reached its pinnacle during princely era is now reaching its nadir in this democratic era, he said.



Dr. Prashanth has so far exhibited his art works at 16 countries including England, Japan, Indonesia, Singapore, Sri Lanka, Philippines, Vietnam, at his own expense, without any Government grants, with the only intention of reaching the pride of culture and tradition to other parts of the world.

Dog warning scares garbage dumpers

Waste menace near CM Siddaramaiah's home ends after MCC's unusual strategy

Mysuru, May 23 (BLU&BS)- After shooting all the arrows in its quiver, the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) has launched yet another unique campaign to deter unruly members of the public from dumping waste in vacant sites.

An vacant site on Sharadadevinagar-Kuvempunagar Road, near the residence of Chief Minister Siddaramaiah at T.K. Layout, had turned into a dumping yard.

Despite intensifying door-to-door garbage collection using MCC auto tippers, the waste menace persisted, adding to the worries of MCC officials.

More importantly, given the Chief Minister's reputation for speaking bluntly on civic issues, the officials were reportedly anxious about facing action if the issue came to his notice.

Along with household waste, construction debris was also being dumped at the spot, extending to another adjacent site belonging to the MCC.

Concerned over the situation, MCC officials had deputed Pourakarmikas to clear the waste every morning. However, by dusk, the same spot would once again be littered with garbage and debris, becoming a major headache for civic authorities. The stench from rotting kitchen waste forced passersby to cover their noses while using the stretch.

As a last resort, the MCC came up with a unique idea by covering the vacant site horizontally with a green cloth to prevent people from dumping waste there.

Along with this, a board carrying a dog's portrait was hung on an electric pole with a stern message in Kannada that read: "Illi Kasa Haakuvavaru Namma Santhathiya Yajamanaru Mattu Namma Kutumbada Mukyastaru" (Those disposing of waste here are the heads of our tribe and family). Another board warns violators of fines ranging from Rs. 500 to Rs. 50,000 for dumping waste.

One more board appeals to residents to segregate dry and wet waste before handing it over to Pourakarmikas during door-to-door garbage collection.

The initiative has reportedly yielded results, with neither residents nor passersby dumping waste at the spot anymore.

Only near CM's house?

The MCC's move has drawn praise from residents, many of whom have urged the Civic Body to replicate the idea across the city to help keep Mysuru clean.

At the same time, some residents feel the MCC may have prioritised cleanliness in the area because of the Chief Minister's residence near the dumping site.

They remarked that civic authorities often act swiftly in places linked to political power and VIP movement, while similar complaints in other localities remain unattended for long periods.

Some even opined that if such urgency and innovation were shown across all 65 Wards, the city's waste problem could be tackled more effectively.

Intensified area domination drive

Commando Force, Panther Units tighten night vigil

Mysuru, May 23 (GA&BCT)- In a bid to curb rising nuisance and criminal activity in residential areas, the Mysuru City Police have intensified their area domination exercises across the city, particularly during night hours. They are using sleuths from the Chamundi Commando Force and Panther Units to instil fear among lawbreakers.

Area domination is a coordinated policing exercise in which a large number of personnel patrol sensitive and vulnerable pockets to deter criminal activity, reassure the public and maintain law and order.

Police sources said, night patrols conducted over the past few weeks have helped restore order in many parts of the city, with officers ensuring that shops close between 10.30 pm and 11 pm. However, miscreants have reportedly shifted their activities deeper into residential localities after increased Police visibility on main roads.

The Police have intensified area domination operations. Yesterday night, officers and staff from all Police Stations conducted route marches, checked suspicious vehicles and individuals, and shut down shops operating in violation of rules.

According to officials, some groups have begun gathering at isolated spots such as parks and cemeteries, allegedly turning them into makeshift party locations and causing inconvenience to nearby residents.

The increase in complaints received through the emergency helpline 112 prompted the Police to strengthen the drive further.

Special team

Acting on public feedback, the Department has now formed a special team of 13 Commando Force personnel who will work alongside Beat Constables and local Station staff to conduct surprise checks in sensitive areas identified by residents.

Police have also launched an extensive area domination operation focusing on isolated stretches, parks, bars, wine shops, tea stalls, hotels and roadside food stalls, particularly during late-night hours.

On Thursday evening, Mysuru City Deputy Commissioner of Police (Law and Order) Dr. Harsha Priyamvada chaired a meeting at the Police Commissioner's office with officers from the Chamundi Commando Force and Panther Units to review the operation and issue fresh guidelines for more effective enforcement.

"After the Police patrols proved successful, miscreants shifted deeper into the neighbourhoods, turning parks and cemeteries into makeshift party spots. The operation is progressing well. Based on complaints from certain areas, we are deploying Commandos to intensify the drive," Dr. Harsha Priyamvada told Star of Mysore.

RTI activist arrested for murder bid

FIR reveals cheating in the name of site deal

Contention over brokering the purchase of 8,712 square feet site at J.P. Nagar; erstwhile MUDA staff had introduced complainant to the accused Mysuru, May 23 (BLU&BS)- The First Information Report (FIR) filed by Kuvempunagar Police against Right To Information (RTI) activist N. Gangaraju, in an attempt to murder case, provides a detailed account of how he took the complainant in the case, for a ride.

Gangaraju

M.N. Dhananjaya, the complainant, who claims to be a labourer in the FIR No. 0043/2026, filed by the Police, has stated that he was introduced to Gangaraju by Nandish, an employee of erstwhile Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) in the year 2024. Nandish had reportedly told Dhananjaya about a site available for sale at J.P. Nagar, before introducing Gangaraju to him to proceed further with the matter.

Dhananjaya had later visited the site measuring 8,712 square feet, along with its owner Bannanthe Gowda and Gangaraju. He finalised the purchase of site at the rate of Rs. 3,800 per square feet with Gangaraju, who had in his possession the documents of the site while Bannanthe Gowda had assured to sign the required documents at the time of purchase.

In June 2024, Bannanthe Gowda gave Gangaraju Rs. 20 lakh as advance in cash, in the presence of Nandish. Following which, Gangaraju had promised to facilitate the registration of the site, after obtaining the Title Deed from its owner Bannanthe Gowda. However, when he contacted Gangaraju over the same matter, there was no progress related to the site. When insisted for the return of advance amount, Gangaraju, though agreed, allegedly failed to keep his word, while the rest is known.

The issue came to light after Gangaraju was caught on video driving the car with Dhananjaya clinging to the bonnet of his four-wheeler, from Sub-Registrar (South) Office in Ramakrishnanagar to Kuvempunagar Police Station on May 20, that has gone viral on social networking sites.

Has many pending cases including one in Tumakuru

Mysuru, May 23 (BLU&BS)- RTI activist N. Gangaraju, who was booked under BNS Section 160 (1), for attempt to murder at Kuvempunagar Police Station on May 21, was produced before a Court later. He has been remanded to Judicial Custody. There are several pending cases against Gangaraju, with FIRs booked against him, not just in local Police Stations, but also in faraway Tumakuru district.

In an FIR filed against six persons including Gangaraju at Turuvekere Police Station in Tumakuru, on May 17, 2024, he is accused of forcibly feeding a soft drink to a person, after spiking the drink with a sleeping tablet, at Nagarle Katte in Tumakuru district, over a property dispute. He is the prime accused in the case.

Earlier, on May 14, 2022, he had been booked by Lakshmipuram Police in Mysuru city, on the charges of abusing a person at MUDA office. Police had subsequently field a FIR against him, on the same day. Previously, on June 30, 2021, Devaraja Police had filed an FIR against Gangaraju for allegedly demanding money from a person.

Fuel prices hiked third time in 10 days

Petrol rate goes up by 87 paise, diesel by 91 paise per litre

Mysuru, May 23 (VNS)- Fuel prices were hiked yet again this morning, with petrol price rising by 87 paise per litre and diesel by 91 paise per litre across the country. This is the third increase in 10 days as soaring global crude oil prices continue to put pressure on State-run oil companies.

With the latest revision, petrol price in Mysuru increased to Rs. 107.61 per litre from Rs. 106.67, while diesel rose to Rs. 95.57 per litre from Rs. 94.63.

The latest hike comes just four days after oil marketing companies had raised petrol and diesel prices by 90 paise per litre on May 19. Earlier, after nearly four years, the fuel prices were increased by Rs. 3 per litre on May 15.

Following that revision, petrol prices in Mysuru had jumped from Rs. 102.47 to Rs. 105.73 per litre, while diesel prices had risen from Rs. 90.57 to Rs. 93.69 per litre.

The earlier hike was introduced amid a sharp rise in international crude oil prices triggered by geopolitical tensions in West Asia and disruptions in global oil supply routes.

Cinema & POLITICS

Indian politics is about personality and not policy. We are a people driven by blind emotion and some of us hope that our heroes can deliver in the real world what they perform in the reel world.

Nowhere is this hope more visible than in Tamil Nadu, where cinema and politics have long shared a revolving door.

The recent ascent of Joseph Vijay, whose party, Tamilaga Vettri Kazhagam (TVK), which means 'Tamil Nadu Victory Party', vaulted from formation to power in just two years.

While it has surprised outsiders, Tamilians and observers of Dravidian politics are not. In Tamil Nadu, screen mythology easily slides into political reality.

Tamil Nadu political history reads like a filmography. C.N. Annadurai used theatre and cinema to disseminate Dravidian ideas. M. Karunanidhi wrote scripts that doubled as ideological manifestos.

Actor M.G. Ramachandran (MGR) played the righteous saviour on screen and then turned that image into political capital. His protégé actor J. Jayalalithaa inherited both the charisma and the political machinery to become the CM.

Even today, actors like Rajinikanth and Kamal Haasan are testing the waters, while Vijay has crossed over to the political realm decisively.

What Tamil Nadu demonstrates is a broader Indian tendency, which is the substitution of policy with perception.

The voter is not merely choosing a governance model. He is choosing a protagonist and in our pursuit of a protagonist, we Indians often become sentimental fools. That is why we build temples for actors and politicians.

In such an environment, the leap from cinema to politics is not a leap at all. It is a lateral move.

This being the IQ levels and blind obsession with heroes, no wonder our actors have become politicians and politicians have become actors too.

Consider Prime Minister Narendra Modi's carefully curated imagery from meditative silences to the now-famous peacock interlude.

Consider Mamata Banerjee's street-fighter persona, often dramatised to powerful effect.

Consider Rahul Gandhi's bearded 'Bharat Jodo Yatra' and his clean-shaven international interviews. These are not accidents. They are scripts.

The insight, of course, is not new. Mahatma Gandhi understood the politics of perception better than most.

His choice of attire, his embrace of simplicity, even his diet, which famously included goat's milk, were not mere personal quirks but deliberate signals. He sought not just to represent the poor, but to resemble them.

That lesson endures. Clothing itself becomes a costume. Cambridge-educated P. Chidambaram's crisp 'veshti' and shawl, Shashi Tharoor's transition from Savile Row to Khadi, Siddaramaiah's shift from Safari Suits to traditional 'Panche' and Sonia Gandhi's shift from dresses to sober sarees, all meant to signal 'relatability.'

In politics, nothing is entirely incidental; it is all meant to create a perception. But if perception is the stage, organised fan clubs are the army and South India has lots of them.

It's 'Rasigar Mandrams' in Tamil Nadu, 'Abhimanigala Sanghas' in Karnataka and 'Abhimana Sanghams' in Andhra Pradesh.

These fan clubs have quietly functioned as a parallel political infrastructure.

What begins as admiration evolves into mobilisation. These networks celebrate birthdays, organise welfare activities and crucially, can be activated during elections.

MGR recognised this early. When he split from the DMK in 1972 to form the AIADMK, his fan clubs became the backbone of his political machinery.

N.T. Rama Rao did the same in Andhra Pradesh, riding his cinematic persona into a historic electoral victory.

Vijay's trajectory follows this blueprint with modern refinements. In fact, Vijay, since 2008, has planned his pivot to politics.

In 2008, the actor sat with his fans for an eight-hour hunger strike in solidarity with Sri Lankan Tamils.

Soon, his fan organisation, 'Vijay Makkal Iyakkham' engaged in social work. Under this club, they started 'Vijay Payilagam', which were free study centres. Then came 'Vijay Vilaiyilla Unavagam', a place where free food was served. Then came 'Vijay Kuruthiyagam', which was a blood donation camp.

So, Vijay's success is no accident. It was built on the back of hero worship. It was Vijay this and Vijay that and Vijay here and Vijay there and Vijay everywhere. Vijay was ingrained in the minds of the people even before he announced the formation of his party.

In India, we are obsessed with our heroes. We are hero worshippers... literally. Temples have been built for Amitabh Bachchan, Rajinikanth and even Kushboo.

In 2014, one Shankar Rao, a Minister from Andhra Pradesh, built a temple for Congress President Sonia Gandhi. He called her 'Telangana Talli' or the beloved Goddess of Telangana!

Hero worship, after all, has consequences. It discourages scrutiny. When admiration becomes absolute, fan criticism feels like betrayal.

This is as true for a film star as it is for a Prime Minister or a spiritual leader. Whether it is Modi, Rahul, Rajinikanth, Vijay or Sadhguru Jaggi Vasudev, the pattern holds, which is that the followers of these people often defend first and think later.

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar warned precisely against this. He distinguished between admiration rooted in respect for noble qualities and blind devotion that suspends independent thought.

He said, the former elevates while the latter degrades. He added, "A democracy can survive the first. But it is imperilled by the second."

For now, let's hope Vijay delivers to Tamilians in real life what he delivered in his reel life.

Meanwhile, we Indians would do well to remember that in a republic, citizens are not meant to be fans. We should be critics and that is also being patriotic.

Sanskrit Pathashala
seeks Rs. 1 crore for repairs

Mysuru, May 23 (MK&BCT)- With a portion of the compound wall of the 150-year-old Government Maharaja Sanskrit Pathashala collapsing recently, raising fears of a major accident if immediate repairs are not taken up, the institution has submitted a proposal seeking Rs. 1 crore for urgent renovation works.

The historic school, established in 1868, has been grappling with several structural issues, including the collapse of a compound wall near the toilets, triggering serious safety concerns.

While renovation work on a few classrooms is already underway, officials say additional funds are required to restore the remaining portions of the campus.

Speaking to SOM, Principal Dr. Satyanarayana said, Public Works Department (PWD) has been repairing the roof of the administrative office building for the past six months at a cost of Rs. 60 lakh.

However, he noted that more funds are needed to rebuild the collapsed compound wall and repair damaged classroom blocks. A formal proposal seeking an additional Rs. 1 crore has been submitted to the State Government through the DC.

The school currently has around 300 to 350 students pursuing studies in Vedas, Shastras and Agamas. Although a hostel building was constructed five years ago, it is yet to be inaugurated due to administrative confusion between the Higher Education Department and the Sanskrit University. Despite this, the building is being informally used to provide food and accommodation for students.

Dr. Satyanarayana expressed concern over private vehicles being parked inside the campus. Despite repeated instructions, cars and two-wheelers continue to enter and park within the premises, disturbing the academic atmosphere. He said, complaints lodged with the Police have so far failed to resolve the issue.

The proposed Rs. 1 crore grant is expected to cover restoration of the compound wall, classroom repairs and other urgent works, he added.

Fake lawyer in marriage fraud

Distressed by the situation, the woman confided in her brother, Imran, who confronted Pradeep but was met with further threats.

Many victims contacted

Determined to expose the fraud, Imran began contacting other victims and gathering testimonies from women who had lost lakhs of rupees in similar scams.

During his inquiry, Imran discovered that Pradeep was engaged to the daughter of a prominent industrialist from Bengaluru. Alarmed by the development, he contacted the businessman and informed him about Pradeep's fraudulent activities.

Initially sceptical, the industrialist personally visited Mysuru, met several victims and reportedly confirmed the allegations.

Wedding called off

Realising that his daughter too was being targeted for her wealth, he immediately called off the wedding and lodged a complaint against Pradeep and Kalavathi at the Adugodi Police Station in Bengaluru. By then, however, the duo had absconded.

Police from Adugodi later visited the Mysuru bungalow, where several victims and their family members had gathered to voice their grievances. The Police reportedly assured them of justice and pasted a notice on the property, summoning Pradeep and Kalavathi for inquiry.

Meanwhile, more victims from Mysuru and Bengaluru are continuing to come forward, alleging that they were deceived through promises of marriage and financial stability before being blackmailed and cheated.

A VIP profile

Speaking about the incident, the Bengaluru industrialist said: "We had created a VIP profile on shaadi.com and Pradeep too had a profile there. He claimed to hold a law degree and a PhD, and said he would soon become a Judge."

"Believing him, we fixed the marriage and even printed 500 wedding invitation cards costing Rs. 600 each. Before the wedding, we spent nearly Rs. 89 lakh, trusting him. But Imran from Mysuru exposed his fraud network," he said.

"It was fortunate that the marriage was called off at the last stage. Pradeep has cheated many young women, widows and innocent people, siphoning off lakhs of rupees. He has ruined lives and lived through blackmail. Such a man deserves strict punishment," he added.

Financial favours sought

According to victims who contacted the Adugodi Police, after gaining the trust of the victims and their families, Pradeep allegedly claimed that a huge amount of his money was 'stuck' in the bank due to technical reasons and sought urgent financial assistance, assuring them that the amount would soon be repaid.

Believing his claims, a wealthy Bengaluru-based family recently transferred lakhs of rupees to him, only to later realise that they had been cheated. Soon after receiving the money, Pradeep and his mother allegedly disappeared.

Second drowning victim's body retrieved at Balamuri
Mandya SP denies Police laxity in ban order enforcement

Ravichandra

Srirangapatna, May 23 (BS)- The body of Ravichandra (21), who had drowned in the River Cauvery at Balamuri on Thursday evening, was fished out yesterday.

Ravichandra, along with his colleague Mohan Kumar, had gone for a swim in the river when the two were swept away by the strong current and drowned.

While the body of Mohan Kumar was retrieved shortly after the incident by Fire and Emergency Services personnel with the help of expert divers, Ravichandra's body was found yesterday near a temple at Balamuri, about one kilometre from ShambukatteMoole, the spot where the duo had reportedly entered the river.

The deceased were employed at Kaynes Technology in Belagola, Mysuru. After work, the duo, along with another colleague, Vikas, had visited the river.

While Vikas, who did not know how to swim, remained seated on the riverbank, Ravichandra and Mohan Kumar reportedly jumped into the water and were swept away by the strong currents.

Post-mortem examinations were conducted at the mortuary of Krishna Rajendra Hospital before the bodies were handed over to the family members. KRS Police have registered a case.

Tourist spots shut

Meanwhile, following public backlash over the alleged lack of adequate safety measures, tourist access to both Balamuri and Yedamuri was completely restricted yesterday.

Shops in the vicinity were also instructed to shut down and entry into the river was barred.

SP clarifies

Mandya Superintendent of Police Dr. V.J. Shobha Rani denied any laxity on the part of the Police in enforcing the prohibitory orders.

"The deceased had entered the river nearly 2 km away from Balamuri. No tourists were allowed inside Balamuri and Yedamuri as prohibitory orders are already in force," the SP said.

Tourist, elephant deaths at Dubare Elephant Camp

Lokayukta initiates suo motu probe, summons two officials

Official negligence suspected, accountability sought

Mysuru, May 23 (MTY&BCT)- The Karnataka Lokayukta has initiated suo motu proceedings into the recent tragedy at the Dubare Elephant Camp, where a tourist and an elephant lost their lives following a violent clash between two elephants.

Justice Phaneendra

Taking serious note of the incident, Upa Lokayukta Justice K.N. Phaneendra observed that official negligence and lapses on the part of Forest authorities appeared to have contributed to the tragedy. He has issued notices to two Forest officials, directing them to submit a detailed report within four weeks.

The incident took place on May 18 at around 11.30 am while elephants were being bathed in the Cauvery River. Kanjan, a Dasara elephant, suddenly turned aggressive and attacked Jai Marthanda, another elephant that was standing nearby.

During the commotion, S. Juneshe (33), a homemaker from Chennai who was visiting Kodagu with her family, was killed in the incident as Jai Marthanda fell on her in the river. Jai Marthanda too succumbed to injuries the following day.

Provisions of Karnataka Lokayukta Act

The Upa Lokayukta took cognisance of the matter after reports of the deaths appeared in newspapers. Invoking provisions of the Karnataka Lokayukta Act, 1984, Justice Phaneendra ordered registration of a suo motu case under the Karnataka Lokayukta Act, 1984, Sections 12(1) and 2(10), which empower the institution to intervene in cases of maladministration and protect public grievances.

Citing the media coverage, the Upa Lokayukta exercised powers under Sections 7(2) and 9(3) (a) of the Act to register a suo motu case. Justice Phaneendra ordered that notices be issued to responsible officials and directed them to submit a detailed report within four weeks.

ACF, RFO respondents

The Upa Lokayukta named Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) A.A. Gopal of Somwarpet Sub-Division and Dubare Range Forest Officer (RFO) Rakshit as respondents in the case.

Notices and summons have been issued to both officials, directing them to submit their explanations and supporting documents within four weeks. They have also been instructed to appear in person before the Upa Lokayukta on June 24.

Copies of the suo motu proceedings and related media reports have been forwarded to the Kodagu Deputy Commissioner (DC), Chief Conservator of Forests (CCF) and Deputy Conservator of Forests (DCF).

The Upa Lokayukta has further directed the authorities to identify lapses at the elephant camp, address safety concerns and submit a comprehensive report on the corrective measures taken to prevent similar incidents in future.

High Court extends stay on KSRTC strike to June 2

Bengaluru, May 23 (DM)- The Karnataka High Court on Thursday extended the stay on KSRTC strike to June 2.

A Vacation Bench of the High Court, comprising Justices Suraj Govindaraj and Dr. K. Manmadha Rao, which heard a petition filed by Bengaluru-based Domestic Help C. Vedavathi and construction worker H.V. Sridhar, told the State Government and the JAC (Joint Action Committee) of Transport Unions to hold talks on finding solutions to the Transport workers demands and extended the stay on holding strike till June 2.

It may be mentioned here that the High Court, which first heard the petition on May 19, a day before the planned State-wide strike by Transport Corporations' staff and workers on May 20, had banned the strike, much to the relief of lakhs of commuters.

The Transport Unions are seeking a wage revision of 25 percent with retrospective effect from 2024, while the Government has offered a 12.5 percent wage hike with effect from 2025, which offer the JAC had rejected and planned to go ahead with its indefinite strike from May 20.

Justice Indiresh cautions against AI overuse

SITTING FROM LEFT: Karnataka State Consumer Grievances Redressal Commission Chairman Justice T.G. Shivashankare Gowda, High Court Justice E.S. Indiresh and 'Law Guide' Hon. Editor Advocate H.N. Venkatesh, who were felicitated during the Alumni Meet of Sarada Vilas Law College in city yesterday, are seen with other dignitaries.

Mysuru, May 23 (BLU&BS)- Karnataka High Court Justice E.S. Indiresh has given a clarion call to the legal fraternity to develop a genuine thinking ability, without relying on technology, irrespective of new technologies like Artificial Intelligence (AI), Google and others.

He was speaking after receiving the felicitation, organised for the alumni of Sarada Vilas Law College, Krishnamurthypuram, in city, yesterday.

Along with Justice Indiresh, Justice T.G. Shivashankare Gowda, Chairman of Karnataka State Consumer Grievances Redressal Commission and H.N. Venkatesh, Advocate and Hon. Editor of 'Law Guide' Kannada monthly, were also felicitated.

Justice Indiresh, who stressed on treading the path of justice in the legal profession, advised not to become the slaves of AI technology, but practice indigenous thoughts.

Listing a few qualities to be imbibed by those studying Law, Indiresh said, apart from pursuing the education, one should develop a good behaviour and desire to learn better thoughts. Besides, one should have love and faith towards his or her country, parents and alma mater, said Justice Indiresh.

Recalling the period of 1950 to 1960, Justice Indiresh asserted that, the Supreme Court Justices of those period, can be described as Saptarishis, whose judgements were deeply influenced by the Constitution. If those judgements are studied, the way of thinking is sure to change.

"Any error in Court judgement, may bring whole family to the street. Hence, the judgements should be delivered in consonance with the Constitution," underlined Justice Indiresh.

S.L. Ramachandra, Senior Member of the Management Committee of Sarada Vilas Educational Institutions, R. Dinesh, Hon. Secretary of Sarada Vilas Educational Institutions and S. Lokesh, President of Mysore Bar Association were present during the programme.

'Don't paint Kanjan as a villain'

Decision to drop Kanjan from Mysuru Dasara duties opposed

Mysuru, May 23 (MTY&BCT)- Mahouts and caretakers at the Dubare Elephant Camp have appealed to the public not to portray Dasara elephant Kanjan as a villain following the recent tragedy in which a tourist woman and another elephant lost their lives during a clash.

Expressing grief over the incident, the Mahouts described it as an unfortunate accident and said Kanjan's long years of service to the Forest Department should not be forgotten because of a single incident. "Kanjan has contributed immensely to the Forest Department, not only during Dasara, but also in operations involving the capture of wild elephants and tigers. It pains us that he is now being portrayed as a culprit," they said.

The caretakers said, "All elephants here are like our children. The loss of Jai Marthanda and the death of the tourist have saddened us deeply. Even Kanjan's actions have left us distressed."

The Mahouts also opposed calls from some quarters seeking Kanjan's removal from Dasara duties, a decision taken by Forest Minister Eshwar B. Khandre.

"Some voices are demanding that Kanjan be dropped from Dasara. That is unfair. In Kerala, elephant attacks occur during religious processions almost every year, yet nobody calls for a ban on their participation. Why should Kanjan alone be singled out?" they questioned.

They pointed out that Karnataka has largely maintained a strong tradition of caring for captive elephants, with only a few isolated incidents reported over the years. "This was an accident, not a deliberate act. We will ensure such mistakes are not repeated. All Mahouts and caretakers are vigilant and committed to safety," they said.

Highlighting Kanjan's contribution over the years, the Mahouts said, the elephant had carried ceremonial wooden howdahs during training sessions, served as 'Pattada Aane' (lead elephant) in three Dasara processions and earned admiration from lakhs of spectators.

"He has stood tall before lakhs of people and brought pride to Karnataka's Dasara celebrations. Raising discordant voices against him now is unjust," they added.

IGU Maharashtra Ladies & Junior Girls Golf Championship

Aida Thimmaiah wins overall IGU Golf title

12-year-old from Kodagu earns her World Amateur Golf Ranking entry

Aida Thimmaiah

Golfer Aida Thimmaiah in action.

Mysuru, May 23 (BCT)- Twelve-year-old golfer Ballachanda Aida Thimmaiah from Kodagu has emerged as the Overall Champion at the IGU Maharashtra Ladies & Junior Girls Golf Championship held at the Willingdon Sports Club from May 18 to 21.

A Bengaluru resident, Aida competed on the par-65 course and carded rounds of one-under, one-over and three-over to finish at +3 (198). Her impressive performance earned her a clean sweep of titles: Winner in Category B, Winner in the Combined Category A and B, and Overall Ladies Champion.

With this victory, Aida has become one of the youngest players to win an Overall IGU Championship, outperforming older and more experienced golfers.

The triumph also marks a major milestone in her young career, as it has earned her an official entry into the World Amateur Golf Ranking (WAGR) system at just 12 years of age.

Aida's campaign stood out for the tournament's only under-par round in the opening stages, followed by a steady and composed display across all three days.

Pressure of competing

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Aida said, "I don't think this week's achievement is going to sink in anytime soon. Becoming one of the youngest players ever to win an Overall IGU Championship honestly feels unbelievable."

Recalling the pressure of competing against older golfers, she said, "I felt nervous, tired, under pressure and overwhelmed playing against older girls. But somewhere deep inside, I also felt ready for the pressure, and I believed in myself."

Reflecting on the experience, Aida said the tournament taught her resilience and composure. "Golf gives you nothing easily. You earn every single moment. Maybe that's what makes moments like this so emotional," she added.

She also acknowledged the sacrifices behind the success. "There are early mornings, missed holidays, tough practice days, tears after bad rounds, constant travelling, and the people who never stopped believing in me even when things got hard."

On entering the WAGR rankings, she described it as a dream milestone. "It is a huge milestone for me and one I've dreamt about for a long time. I'm grateful to my coaches, academy, support team, family, friends and everyone cheering me on through this journey," she said.

Aida is the daughter of Ballachanda Den Thimmaiah and Sanjana Thimmaiah, originally from Virajpet in Kodagu and now settled in Bengaluru. Den Thimmaiah is engaged in land development, while Sanjana is a wedding planner.

Mysore Summer Races to start from May 27

Mysuru, May 23- The Mysore Summer Races-2026 will begin from May 27 and extends across 11 race days, to be held every Wednesday at Mysore Race Club (MRC).

It may be recalled that, owing to the outbreak of Glanders and the consequent notification issued by the State Government, racing activities at the MRC were compelled to be suspended in December 2025.

"This pause, though necessitated in the paramount interest of equine health and public safety, was a deeply felt interruption in the rhythm of our cherished traditions. In strict adherence to the prescribed protocol, all horses stabled at MRC Ltd. were subjected to comprehensive testing and the results have been duly certified. In consequence, the Karnataka Government has issued the formal denotification, thereby permitting the resumption of racing at MRC. Thus, after an interval of nearly six months, we stand poised to revive the grandeur and exhilaration of our sport," stated a press release issued by MRC Secretary and CEO NHS Mani.
